

Dr. Tasha Eurich

SPEAKER INTRODUCTION

Thank you for inviting Dr. Eurich to speak at your event! We're thrilled to be partnering with you. We would very much appreciate it if you read the following introduction verbatim. Thank you so much!

Dr. Tasha Eurich [pronounced "Yur-ick"] is an organizational psychologist, researcher, and New York Times best-selling author.

Recognized as the world's leading self-awareness coach & communication expert, Tasha pairs her scientific background with more than 20 years coaching senior executives to share the surprising secrets to thrive in a changing world.

She's spoken live to hundreds of thousands, on every continent but Antarctica—and her most recent TEDx talk has more than 8 million views.

Tasha's latest book, Insight, appears on Brené Brown's bookshelf, and famed Wharton professor Adam Grant calls it one of the three titles he recommends most often.

In her spare time, she enjoys traveling, rescuing dogs, and is a proud and unapologetic musical theater nerd.

Please join me in welcoming Tasha Eurich ["Yur-ick"].