

Nataly Kogan Intro

Nataly Kogan is serial entrepreneur, bestselling author, and artist, who is passionate about helping leaders and organizations turn change into their catalyst to grow and create their next.

Nataly came to the United States as a refugee from the Soviet Union at 13, with no English and no money. She learned the language by watching Who's the Boss? on repeat.

Nataly became the youngest Managing Director at a venture capital firm at 25. She built five startups, including Happier, one of the first gratitude platforms in the world, which helped hundreds of thousands of people lead happier lives.

Then, at the peak of her success, Nataly burned out. That became the turning point for her most important reinvention.

Nataly is the bestselling author of three books, and hosts the Dare Yourself podcast. Her work has been featured in The New York Times, The Wall Street Journal, and hundreds of other publications.

At 40, she picked up a paintbrush for the first time and is now a self-taught abstract artist.

She does not believe patience is a virtue, loves bold colors, and proudly holds the title of funniest person in her family. Just ask her husband and daughter, her favorite awesome humans.

Please join me in welcoming... Nataly Kogan!
